Work arising from the ideas of Rudolf Steiner

A journey of discovery on twenty Saturdays from October 2015 to June 2016

at

Edinburgh Steiner School, 60 Spylaw Road

Edinburgh EH10 5BR

This course offers an opportunity to explore the ideas of Rudolf Steiner at a deeper level under the guidance of experienced teachers and in a supportive group setting. Each Saturday will have study/seminar components as well as a variety of artistic sessions.

The following themes will be covered:

Life phases in children and adults
Rudolf Steiner's life and work
The threefold human being
The fourfold human being
Aspects of evolution
Destiny and reincarnation
The twelve senses and the seven life processes
The inner path of development
A new approach to science
The festivals and the seasons
An overview of practical activities arising from Rudolf Steiner's work

Ongoing artistic activities will include painting, eurythmy, creative speech, drama, crafts, storytelling, etc.

The start and end of the day, as well as lunch, coffee and tea times will take place together with the Edinburgh Steiner School Teacher Training Course.

After successfully completing the full Foundation Seminar students will have the opportunity to embark on further studies, either on the second and third year of the Teacher Training Course or other courses that are available.
